TOPIC: Hazardous Waste- Georgia has applied to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for final authorization of changes to its hazardous waste program under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). EPA has determined that these changes satisfy all requirements needed to qualify for final authorization, and is authorizing the State's changes through this direct final rule. In the "Proposed Rules" section of today's Federal Register, EPA is also publishing a separate document that serves as the proposal to authorize these changes. EPA believes this action is not controversial and does not expect comments that oppose it. Unless EPA receives written comments that oppose this authorization during the comment period, the decision to authorize Georgia's changes to its hazardous waste program will take effect. If EPA receives comments that oppose this action, EPA will publish a document in the Federal Register withdrawing today's direct final rule before it takes effect, and the separate document published in today's "Proposed Rules" section of this Federal Register will serve as the proposal to authorize the changes

AGENCY: Department of Environmental Management/Solid Waste Management Board

TOPIC: Waste Tires-This rulemaking proposes changes to the waste tire management rules at 329 IAC 15. The rule changes are intended to clarify and update the rules to address current conditions in the industry, and incorporate statutory changes mandated by Public Law 37-2012 into the rules. These changes include eliminating outdated references to Indiana Code (IC) citations, adding definitions and references to improve clarity in the rule, removing the waste tire transporter manifest form from the rule, and updating financial assurance requirements. In addition to those updates, the statutory changes will authorize local government tire amnesty programs as another means to collect and process waste tires. All of these rule changes are designed to increase the efficiency and accuracy of the waste tire rules rather than initiate a major overhaul of waste tire management. The main groups that will be affected by the rulemaking are the transporters, storage sites, and processing sites in the waste tire management industry.
